REPORT OF THE PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT DEPARTMENT
APPLICATION FOR DESIGNATION
AS A CITY OF JACKSONVILLE LANDMARK

LM-23-08
Dr. Charles B. McIntosh Buildings
1009 Jessie Street
Jacksonville, Florida 32206

GENERAL LOCATION: Northeastern corner of A Phillip Randolph Boulevard and Jessie Street, between A Phillip Randolph Boulevard and Van Buren Street in the Eastside National Register Historic District

Prepared in accordance with the JACKSONVILLE ORDINANCE CODE, SECTION 307.104, the Jacksonville Planning and Development Department hereby forwards to the Jacksonville Historic Preservation Commission, its "Findings, Conclusions and Recommendations" on the Landmark Designation, LM-23-08. The owner of the property is:

Fatima and Noriko Floyd
5127 Banshee Avenue
Jacksonville, Florida 32244

FINDINGS AND CONCLUSIONS

- (A) Consistent with the JACKSONVILLE ORDINANCE CODE, SECTION 307.104(d), the Planning and Development Department determined that the application for designation of the property at 1009 Jessie Street as a Landmark was complete.
- (B) As required, the Planning and Development Department had signs posted in front of the property being considered for designation, as well as sent notices by U.S. Mail to each owner of real property within three hundred and fifty (350) feet of the proposed landmark. Notice of the public hearing on the designation of the property at 1009 Jessie Street as a Landmark was published in the Financial News and Daily Report. Proof of publication is attached to this report.
- (C) Once designated, any activity affecting the exterior of the building and site of the proposed landmark at 1009 Jessie Street will require a Certificate of Appropriateness (COA). All proposed work will be reviewed for consistency with the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation and Guidelines for Rehabilitating Historic Buildings. The review of most routine work scopes including repairs, maintenance, alterations of previously altered features, small additions, and size-limited new construction that would not impact significant historic elements or would not be readily street visible can be processed by the Historic Preservation Section (HPS) of the Jacksonville Planning and Development Department, but certain activities like alterations, additions, new construction, relocation, and demolition that would be visible from the public right-of-way, as well as any work the HPS determines to be potentially in conflict with the Secretary of the Interior Standards, will require review by the Jacksonville Historic Preservation Commission.

The purpose of the historic designation of this site is to provide protection to the two-story masonry building and the one-story masonry vernacular single-family residence at 1009 Jessie Street and not to discourage or prohibit the future development of the site. The review of work through the COA process is to preserve the historic character, architectural features, and materials of this significant structure, as well as ensure any future development of the site is compatible with and sensitive to this primary historic resource.

- (D) In preparing the application, the Planning and Development Department has found the application to meet three of the seven criteria. The three criteria include the following:

A. Its value as a significant reminder of the cultural, historical, architectural, or archaeological heritage of the City, state, or nation.

The two-story concrete block structure on the property was constructed in 1958 to be a doctor's office with two apartments. The one-story single-family masonry vernacular structure was constructed in 1955. Both structures are associated with Dr. Charles B. McIntosh, known to be the first Black pediatrician in Jacksonville. McIntosh used the two-story block structure as a research facility where he conducted his studies regarding Sickle-Cell disease (SCD). The one-story block structure has been identified as his place of residence during his time using the two-story structure.

Both structures are situated in the historically black Oakland community in East Jacksonville. Located to the north of East Jacksonville, the Oakland community was originally part of the property purchased by steamboat captain Charles Willey in 1842. This 278-acre tract was acquired by Captain Willey as the result of an execution sale based on a judgment against the owner, John Warren. In 1852, Captain Willey and his wife, Francis, deeded four acres to the City of Jacksonville for the purpose of a public cemetery. The cemetery, now known as the Old City Cemetery, was expanded by three acres, with one acre conveyed to the Roman Catholic Bishop of Florida. By 1869, the remaining portions of Captain Willey's properties had come under the ownership of Jesse D. Cole.<sup>1</sup> That same year, Cole filed a plat for the town of Oakland.<sup>2</sup>

The 1869 plat map of Oakland was divided into two major sections. The first section was composed of forty-three tracts divided into individual lots. This section also included the Old City Cemetery, as well as numerous individual lots to the west and south of the cemetery along Hogans Creek. The second section, north of Jessie Street, was composed of twenty-eight tracts not divided into individual lots. Historically, Hogans Creek bound Oakland on the west and south, Grant and East Union Streets on the south, Haines Street on the east, and East First Street on the north.

Like LaVilla, Brooklyn, and Hansontown, Oakland was settled by Freedmen who were attracted by inexpensive housing and employment opportunities in the docks and sawmills along the riverfront. To the south and east of Oakland, the white communities of East Jacksonville and Fairfield had developed and grown. In 1887, all three communities were incorporated into the City of Jacksonville along with LaVilla, Springfield, Brooklyn, and Riverside. The African American population in Oakland had begun also to move into the new residential community to the north known as Campbellton or Campbell's Addition to East Jacksonville.

B. Its location is the site of a significant local, state, or national event.

It is the determination of the Planning and Development Department that the subject property at 1009 Jessie Street does not meet this landmark criterion.

C. It is identified with a person or persons who significantly contributed to the development of the City, state, or nation.

The subject property is associated with Dr. Charles B. McIntosh, a well-known medical legend who conducted a portion of his medical studies at the two-story structure and lived in the one-story single residence located on the site. Charles B. McIntosh graduated from Florida A&M University (FAMU) in the class of 1948. He then went on to obtain his master's degree in biology from New York University, and soon after received his M.D. at Meharry Medical College<sup>3</sup>. McIntosh made great strides during his career, being known as the first Black pediatrician in Jacksonville to open a private practice in 1958, a founding member and past president of Volunteers in Medicine, and the first African American to sit on the Florida Board of Medical Examiners. As stated in a Jacksonville Free Press article, Dr. Charles B. McIntosh spent seven decades providing quality healthcare to Jacksonville's underserved youth<sup>4</sup>. His main contribution to the nation is his Sickle-Cell research which heavily impacts African Americans. In 1969, he started the Sickle Cell Disease Association of Northeast Florida, to inform the community about the disease and its warning signs. Sickle-cell disease (SCD) is a group of inherited red blood cell disorders. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), red blood cells are traditionally round, however, someone who suffers from SCD has abnormal red blood cells which becomes hard and sticky and look like a C-shaped farm tool called a "sickle." The sickle cells die quickly which causes a continuous shortage of red blood cells which carry oxygen through the body. Additionally, as the sickle cells travel together through small blood vessels, they can get stuck and clog the blood flow which results in serious health complications such as infection, acute chest syndrome, and stroke<sup>5</sup>.

The Jacksonville Business Journal has honored McIntosh as one of its “Health Care Heroes” because of his astonishing community service. McIntosh’s contributions to the nation and community of Jacksonville have had a lasting impact. Recently, the doctor was awarded the Certificate of Merit, which is the highest honor given by the Florida Medical Association<sup>6</sup>. In addition to McIntosh’s numerous accolades, a facility within Northwest Jacksonville has been in development and will honor his legacy. According to an article published by Jax Today, the Charles B. McIntosh Community Achievement Center is planned to open in July 2024<sup>7</sup>.

D. *It is identified as the work of a master builder, designer, or architect whose individual work has influenced the development of the City, state, or nation.

Based upon the limited information available, the Planning and Development Department determines that the subject property at 1009 Jessie Street does not meet this landmark criterion.

E. *Its value as a building is recognized for the quality of its architecture, and it retains sufficient elements showing its architectural significance.

Based upon the limited information available, it is the determination of the Planning and Development Department that the subject property at 1009 Jessie Street does not meet this landmark criterion.

F. *It has distinguishing characteristics of an architectural style valuable for the study of a period, method of construction, or use of indigenous materials.

Based upon the limited information available, the Planning and Development Department determines that the subject property at 1009 Jessie Street does not meet this landmark criterion.

G. *Its suitability for preservation or restoration.

In utilizing this criterion, it has been the practice of the Planning and Development Department to evaluate proposed landmarks based on evidence of significant exterior alterations that have negatively impacted character-defining features, as well as represent alterations difficult, costly, or impossible to reverse. Further, the degree and nature of any exterior deterioration, as well as the evidence of long-term and potentially ongoing neglect is also a factor in evaluating potential landmarks for their suitability for preservation or restoration. Not having any evidence of significant exterior deterioration, the structure has been well maintained over the years. According to archival records and permitting, the structures do not show any evidence of being significantly altered, thereby retaining their historical integrity and fabric.
