Introduced by Council Member Carlucci and Co-Sponsored by Council

2 3

1

4

5

6

7 8

9

10

11

12

13

14 15

16

17

18 19

20

21

22 23

24

25

26 27

28

29 30

31

Members Morgan, Howland, Becton, Priestly Jackson, Ferraro, White, Dennis, Cumber DeFoor, Gaffney & Diamond:

RESOLUTION 2022-333-A

Α RESOLUTION COMMEMORATING JACKSONVILLE'S BICENTENNIAL AND URGING CITIZEN PARTICIPATION IN THE MANY ACTIVITIES PLANNED TO CELEBRATE THE CITY'S PAST, PRESENT, AND FUTURE; COMMENDING AND THANKING THE ORGANIZERS OF JACKSONVILLE'S BICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION FESTIVITIES; PROVIDING AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

WHEREAS, the name "Jacksonville" first appeared on an official document when Isaiah D. Hart and 60 citizens living along the St. Johns River petitioned U.S. Secretary of State, John Quincy Adams, on June 15, 1822 to designate "Jacksonville" in the Territory of Florida as an official port of entry for the United States; and

WHEREAS, the name "Jacksonville" was likely chosen by the citizens of the area then known as "the cow ford" or "Cowford" as an homage to Florida's former territorial governor, and War of 1812 hero General Andrew Jackson; and

WHEREAS, although the initial petition for port of entry status was unsuccessful, in 1832 the Florida Legislature approved a town charter for Jacksonville and the city we now know was officially born; and

WHEREAS, Jacksonville grew substantially in the 1840s and 1850s due to its status as a seaport and riverport and a producer and exporter of naval stores. The Civil War slowed the City's development, but growth rebounded in the post-war years as Jacksonville became a manufacturing and commercial center and, by the late 19th century, a railroad destination and popular winter tourism destination for Northerners enjoying the area's warm weather, beaches, and lush subtropical scenery; and

WHEREAS, Jacksonville's greatest calamity occurred with the Great Fire in May 1901, but the industrious city quickly rebounded, rebuilt, and participated with the rest of the state in the great Florida land boom of the early decades of the twentieth century. The City's seaport and railroad assets and its mild climate made it an important center for military training and shipbuilding in World Wars I and II, and Jacksonville continues to be the site of some of the most important U.S. Navy facilities on the East Coast; and

WHEREAS, throughout the twentieth century and continuing to the present, Jacksonville's economy diversified into the fields of banking, financial services, and insurance; advanced technology and manufacturing; aviation and aerospace; health care and life sciences; logistics; and education. The City's reputation for entrepreneurship and job creation has made it one of the most attractive places for new development in the country, and its population and business growth in recent decades have made Jacksonville one of America's premier cities; and

WHEREAS, the bicentennial of the emergence of Jacksonville from its Cowford beginnings offers the City and its one million citizens the opportunity to reflect on our long and fascinating history and to eagerly anticipate and plan for what the next century has to offer for our city and our region; now therefore

BE IT RESOLVED by the Council of the City of Jacksonville:

Section 1. The City Council hereby commemorates the bicentennial of the creation of Jacksonville and urges all citizens to be active participants in the many and varied activities planned to celebrate the City's past, present, and future.

8

10

1112

13

14 /s/ Pa

Form Approved:

15

16 Legislation Prepared By: Jeff Clements, City Council Research

17 gc

Section 2. The Council commends and thanks the leadership and staff of the Jacksonville Historical Society, the Jacksonville Bicentennial Task Force, the City's Parks, Recreation and Community Services Department and its Special Events Division, many generous donors, and the army of participants who are working so hard to make the various bicentennial events and celebrations such a tremendous success.

Section 3. Effective Date. This Resolution shall become effective upon signature by the Mayor or upon becoming effective without the Mayor's signature.

/s/ Paige H. Johnston

Office of General Counsel

GC-#1498723-v1-2022-333-A.docx