Update on Jaguar Stadium Negotiations

CFO Mike Weinstein updated the committee on the proposed EverBank Stadium renovation process. A financial team and a construction team will be formed to review costs and project designs proposed by the Jaguars organization. He reported that after an exhaustive review process the administration has selected the multinational law firm of Sidley Austin, headquartered in Chicago with an office in Miami, as the City’s consultant for the negotiation process. The firm has extensive experience with sports teams, leagues and stadium projects. Representatives of the firm will be present at the Council meeting next Tuesday for introductions.

Update on City's Annual Audit

Council Auditor Kim Taylor reported that the City’s annual financial report did not meet the state’s June 30th submittal date due to continuing issues with the 1Cloud system. The state has been informed of the delay and the goal is now sometime in September for both the financial audit and the single audit of state and federal grants to be completed.

Presentation on Procurement Bill 2023-20

Deputy General Counsel Lawsikia Hodges gave a brief overview of the background of the bill and the plan for multiple presentations on various facets of the large and complex ordinance over the course of 3 committee meetings. She noted that “central services” (including procurement, fleet management, data processing, personnel and legal services) were a fundamental feature of the consolidation movement in the mid-1960s in order to improve efficiency and accountability. The pending bill deals with topics such as automation and technology in procurement processes, updating outdated provisions, addition of transparency and ethics, improving efficiency, etc. Part 1 revises general regulations and guiding principles; Part 2 combines the current 3 procurement award committees into a single Jacksonville Procurement Awards Committee and changes the membership to avoid Government in the Sunshine difficulties. Language regarding procurement policies and procedures will be removed from the Ordinance Code and placed in an administrative manual. Ms. Hodges said she is ready and willing to work with council members on any ideas for amendments to the ordinance as proposed. Several council members have already expressed an interest in changing provisions regarding the JSEB ombudsman position.

In response to a question from CM Carrico, Procurement Division Chief Dustin Freeman said the bill is a good start toward a necessary update of a 30-year-old code and he looks forward to making even more improvements during the committee debate. CM White asked for confirmation that single-source procurements will still be allowed for items such as fire trucks; Mr. Freeman confirmed that it would. CM Pittman asked how the procurement staff feels about the bill and if they had any input into its creation. Mr. Freeman said his predecessor as division chief and several procurement managers reviewed the ordinance during its drafting and the JSEB coordinator has reviewed that portion of the proposal. CM Pittman asked about the proper organizational location for the JSEB ombudsman; Mr. Freeman said he is happy to host that position in his division but is open to it being moved to wherever the council feels is most appropriate. CM Gaffney Jr. asked about the biggest difference the ordinance would make in the current procurement system. Mr. Freeman said in several areas: the incorporation of electronic processing; the combination of the 3 procurement committees into one; the threshold for formal vs informal procurements; and allowing the Chief of Procurement to revise regulations and procedures in a procurement manual instead of in the Code. In response to a question from Chairman Howland, Ms. Hodges said that the members of the new unified JPAC could designate representatives to attend in their place.

AMEND/APPROVE

Aye: 7 - Howland, White, Arias, Carrico, Gaffney Jr., Lahnen and Pittman

Phillip Peterson explained the amendment and the purpose of the bill. He said the process of using year-end recapture funds to address negative cash balances has been taking place later than usual over the last couple of years because of the delay in the production of the financial data due to the 1Cloud system.

AMENDMENT

1. Correct fiscal year references
2. Correct Ordinance number references
3. Strike all references to "subfund" and insert "fund"

• The annual budget ordinance requires the Director of Finance and Administration to communicate to the Council Auditor as part of the annual recapture process all funds that have negative cash balances for consideration of addressing the negative balances with the recaptured funds
